PLAYGROUND SIGNS

How to Play Duck, duck, goose

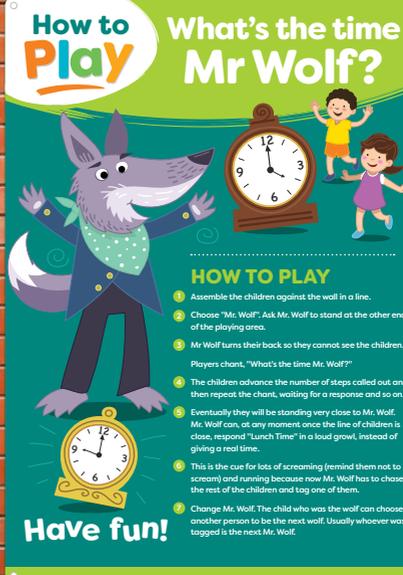

YOU WILL NEED
At least 5 players

HOW TO PLAY

- Everyone should sit in a circle, facing the middle.
- The person leading the game should choose one person to be the farmer. The farmer should stand up and everyone should shuffle around to fill their space.
- The farmer should walk around the circle. As they pass each person, they should gently tap them on the head and say either 'duck' or 'goose'.
- When the farmer says 'duck', nothing happens – the farmer should carry on going around and tapping people.
- When the farmer says 'goose', the person who was tapped on the head becomes the goose.
- The goose should get up and chase the farmer. The farmer should try to run around the circle and sit down in the space the goose left empty when they stood up.
- If the goose catches the farmer before they get back to the space, then the farmer stays being the farmer and the goose sits down in their space.
- If the farmer gets back to the space without being caught by the goose, then the goose becomes the farmer.

Everyone should repeat steps 1-8 to seven to keep playing until they've all had a turn at being the goose.

How to Play What's the time Mr Wolf?

HOW TO PLAY

- Assemble the children against the wall in a line.
- Choose "Mr. Wolf". Ask Mr. Wolf to stand at the other end of the playing area.
- Mr. Wolf turns their back so they cannot see the children.
- Players chant, "What's the time Mr. Wolf?"
- The children advance the number of steps called out and then repeat the chant, waiting for a response and so on.
- Eventually they will be standing very close to Mr. Wolf. Mr. Wolf can, at any moment once the line of children is close, respond "Lunch Time" in a loud growl, instead of giving a real time.
- This is the cue for lots of screaming (remind them not to scream) and running because now Mr. Wolf has to chase the rest of the children and tag one of them.
- Change Mr. Wolf. The child who was the wolf can choose another person to be the next wolf. Usually whoever was tagged is the next Mr. Wolf.
